

Grow with a recruitment leader in Cork and Dublin

Develop your career with The Berkley Recruitment Group based in either Cork or Dublin. If you feel you are just a number with a multinational, or have nowhere to go with an unambitious company, then we offer excellent career potential, extremely lucrative remuneration, together with a flexible working environment and personalised coaching, training and support.

We are looking for target driven, competitive individuals to recruit with many of Ireland's leading companies, offering a low volume high quality service in line with our brand and reputation.

We are looking to significantly expand both our Cork and Dublin operations, where we are about to open a newly constructed state of the art office building to accommodate our growth plans.

We have opportunities at all levels, from trainee to management, so please call for an initial confidential discussion.
