

Make a big splash in the world of plastics.

With products that can be found in almost every home, factory and farm throughout the country, Sturdy Products is a fast growing company. Based in Blessington, Co. Wicklow, our rotationally moulded plastic products are unique in the Irish market. These products are sold through a multitude of channels including wholesale, retail, end users, OEMs and specification sales to environmental, waste management, construction, domestic and allied markets sectors. With a strong focus on environmental protection and awareness, we enjoy an unmatched design and production capacity as well as several strategic alliances with market leading manufacturers. Our success has led to expansion and development and, as such, we now have excellent openings for:

Sales and Marketing Manager - Director Designate

Reporting directly to the Managing Director, you will define strategic objectives based on solid market research. It will also be your role to plan and organize sales and marketing programs and achieve sales and profit contribution targets. You will provide strong leadership, motivation and direction to the established and successful sales and design teams.

You should have proven achievement as a Sales Manager with experience in at least some of our market segments. You should have a commercial and results oriented approach and experience of compiling, administering and controlling sales and profit targets and expense budgets.
