

Healthy Growth for your career with Berkley

Graduate/Trainee Recruitment Consultants

No other career offers you the kind of access and exposure to key players at top multinationals.

The Role:

The Berkley Recruitment Group is one of the most prestigious consultancies in the industry and currently has exciting opportunities for bright and enthusiastic Graduate/Trainee Recruitment Consultants. Central to this role is establishing first contact with prospective candidates, explaining current vacancies, securing appointments and obtaining referrals. As your client portfolio grows, so does your success and financial rewards you will be expected to liaise with them to obtain ideal candidate profiles and comprehensive job briefs.

In addition to these activities, you will be asked to aid in the effective and innovative promotion of Berkley's consultancy services.

As an ideal candidate you will be a graduate in a relevant discipline or you will have proven sales acumen, though not necessarily in recruitment, but with at least two years commercial experience behind you – perhaps in areas such as Pharmaceutical, IT or Sales/Marketing.
